Natural flooring

Made from plant fibres, natural flooring suits both rustic and sophisticated country schemes, whether fitted wall-to-wall or made up as a rug or runner with a bound edge or decorative border.

Need to know...

Sisal (sold in many colours) and coir are very hardwearing, while silky-soft jute and seagrass are comfy underfoot in bedrooms. Some floorings mix plant fibre with wool for warmth. Avoid natural flooring for kitchens and bathrooms, since it doesn't take kindly to water, and check before using on stairs as some types are slippery.

Where to buy...

- The Alternative Flooring Company for bespoke rugs.
- Crucial Trading for subtle patterns.
- Kersaint Cobb for striped sisal runners.
