Sunshine style

1 A fun tablecloth made from Ian Mankin's collection of jaunty and practical striped oilcloths (130cm wide) will add a dash of seaside style to any home. This design is called Ascot and costs £24/m (020 7722 0997; www.ianmankin.com) ☒

2 The Kikoy Company's colourful cotton placemat (£16 for two) has a towelling lining for extra durability and is available in a selection of six bright colours with matching napkins (01858 880888; www.kikoy.com) ☒

3 From her home on the Isle of Wight, Annika Tomlinson runs Living by the Seaside, selling a selection of coastal-inspired home accessories including this fish coaster, £17 for four, and co-ordinating trays, from £15 (01983 248512; www.livingbytheseaside.com) ☒

4 Eco-friendly website The Green Apple offers an array of items for the home and garden. These Plant-Me cards (£3.95) are crafted from handmade paper that has been embedded with wildflower or herb seeds. The paper composts into the soil as the plants grow (www.the-green-apple.co.uk) ☒

5 Norfolk-based artist Andy Povey paints words and pictures onto recycled wood or bricks found on nearby beaches to create fun signs and garden sculptures. This piece, made of bricks, costs £230; large commissions and house names are also undertaken (01692 538362) ☒

6 Noah et George's zesty striped large box cushion is available in a choice of three cheerful colourways and costs £25 (www.noahetgeorge.com) ☒

7 Interiors@Tides' vintage-style Blyton picnic basket, £84.50, has a removable willow tray containing ceramic plates, mugs, a red enamel flask and cutlery for two (01625 578105; www.interiors-tides.co.uk) ☒ ▷
